

IEEE Computer Society

Robert Floyd

8/6/36 – 25/9/2001

Program correctness

Floyd was a pioneer of the idea of applying mathematics to the problem of program correctness. His work contributed significantly to Hoare logic.

Software Engineering

Floyd is said to have been one of the first advocates of refactoring and the rewriting of working programs from scratch.

Turing Award 1978

